

Salt of the Earth

When we speak of “cooking in the moment,” we speak of our emotional presence in the food. We create from an ever changing perspective influenced by our personal lives, the weather outside, the seasons that envelop us, and the amazing ingredients that grow just beyond our backdoor. All of this is possible because of relationships. We thrive off of the relationships that we’ve built with our staff, our guests, and our growers and producers. These are the relationships that will sustain us.

Salt of the Earth

A meal at Salt of the Earth restaurant is an authentic Midwest American rustic food experience, built from a foundation of fresh high quality ingredients from growers within a fifty-mile radius of Allegan County. Starting from scratch and prepared by hand, the Salt of the Earth kitchen prepares dishes in a simple fashion as ingredients change with the season. From warm welcome to fond farewell, we are committed to providing an unparalleled dining experience for each guest entering our doors.
